Join us:

Head of Wind - Business Development (f/m/x) renewable Energy

Your Role

As the Head of Wind – Business Development (f/m/x) at Zelestra, you will play a pivotal entrepreneurial role in shaping and expanding our wind energy solutions across Germany. You will be responsible for building a robust wind project pipeline of several hundred MW to contribute to our multi-technology portfolio, guiding projects from initial development through financial close, commercialization, construction, and into operational asset management. Additionally, you will actively influence and define the company's strategic direction in Germany.

Reporting to the Chief Development Officer in Germany, you will become part of a dynamic group of experienced professionals dedicated to achieving ambitious growth objectives. This presents an exceptional opportunity for a senior leader eager to make a meaningful impact on the future of renewable energy and energy storage.

Responsibilities

- Define and implement a strategy to develop, build and commercialize wind energy projects on a stand-alone or hybrid basis in line with the company's overall renewable energy strategy and vision
- Partner closely with the Business Development and M&A teams to complement our growth through establishing co-development partnerships and the acquisition of attractive wind projects and pipelines
- Collaborate with the Energy Markets / Commercial Team to shape the wind business model and commercial strategy
- Work with Investment and Commercial teams to conduct financial modelling, craft compelling investment theses, ensure regulatory compliance (national and EU), and adapt strategies based on evolving market conditions
- Build lasting partnerships with multiple stakeholders such as developers, grid operators and industry representatives
- Together with the CFO team, define the best strategy and find the best partner to finance the projects
- Collaborate with the COO and Program Management teams to bring projects to construction with optimized design, reliable supply chains, and cost-effective execution plans – ensuring smooth transition into operations and asset management

Job Requirements

- Several years of experience within the German power markets or renewable energy investments

- Strategic thinker with deep understanding of the German wind energy landscape – including grid services, trading mechanisms, and market regulations affecting wind energy
- Proven track record in project development, transaction and partnership structuring, project valuation and commercialization
- Strong negotiation skills coupled with excellent stakeholder management capabilities
- Fluency in German and English
- Demonstrated leadership ability with a collaborative mindset; passionate about leading the transition toward a clean energy future
- Customer-oriented approach with a talent for building lasting relationships
- Degree in Business Administration, Engineering, or a related field

What we offer

- Permanent contract
- Attractive remuneration with a performance-based bonus
- Training, team events and 30 days holidays
- Possibility to work remotely and still have the opportunity to meet frequently with all your colleagues from different departments
- Opportunity to take on responsibilities that have a direct impact on the business and the possibility to gain practical experience in diverse aspects of the company
- A sense of fulfilment as you embrace new challenges, grow, learn, and evolve
- Enjoying the best of both worlds: the resources and experience of an international company with 20 years of history and the opportunities of a small but fast-growing team in our German business unit
- Working towards a common goal with passionate colleagues

We are not just a workplace; we are a hub of innovation, where great minds come together to reshape the energy landscape!
